SIX MONTHS IN JAIL FOR REV. ELI TARTTIE

Jury Gives the Negro Preacher a Heavier Sentence Than That of the Mayor.

NEW BUSINESS CONCERNS

One to Manufacture Leather and Shoes and Other to Adjust Insurance Matters.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
PETERSBURG, VA., October 1.—Six months' confinement in the city jail for the Rev. Eli Tarttie, pastor of the Harrison Street Baptist Church, colored, was the punishment fixed by the jury in the Hastings Court this afternoon in the trial of the appeal of the negro preacher from the sentence in Mayor Jones's Court of $25 fine and thirty days in jail, for assaulting and threatening with a pistol John Henry Mason, colored, a clerk in the employ of T. C. Johnson, a negro lawyer, in whose office on Oak Street the alleged assault occurred about five weeks ago. The prisoner was admitted to bail by Judge Mullin in the sum of $500 this afternoon, several negro men going on his bond. The judge fixed Saturday, October 5th, as the date to hear argument on the motion for a new trial, made by Tarttie's counsel, who are State Senator Charles T. Lassiter and Mr. Paul Pettit.

Said Tarttie Attacked Him.
Because of Tarttie's prominence in the big congregational church, which has split the Harrison Street Church and is still undecided, special interest is taken in the result of his trial on a criminal charge, and the courtroom today was packed with people, white and colored. Mason, the victim of Tarttie's alleged assault, was the first witness for the prosecution, which was conducted by Commonwealth's Attorney R. H. Mann. He practically repeated his story in the first trial of Tarttie's attack and threats. Counsel for the defense, objected to the testimony of Needham Hudgins, colored, as seeing Tarttie near the scene of the alleged assault on the day that it is said to have occurred, and the court ruled that such evidence could be used only in rebuttal. The defendant attempted to prove an alibi at the first trial, and two of his witnesses are now awaiting trial on a charge of perjury. The colored lawyer, Johnson, testified as to what the principals in the affair had told him, and several witnesses vouched for Mason's good character. The defense called no witnesses.

Two New Business Concerns.
The certificates of incorporation of two large and important business organizations, just formed in this city, were recorded today in the office of the clerk of the courts. Both are entirely new interests in Petersburg, one being the "Friend Shoe Manufacturing Company, Incorporated," and the other a company to adjust and appraise insurance losses, to be known as "The Adjustment Bureau, Incorporated." The shoe manufacturing company is to have a capital of not more than $30,000, nor less than $25,000, and is empowered to buy, sell, manipulate and manufacture leather, boots, shoes, gloves and all other things that are made of leather, and all its products. The officers are: President, Alfred Friend, Jr., Treasurer, Alfred Friend, Jr., Secretary, E. H. Spotswood, Manager, O. E. Picher. The officers constitute the directors. The company will employ several hundred hands, who will be under the management and direction of skilled leather workers.

The purposes of the Adjustment Bureau are to adjust insurance losses, act as appraisers, and do any and all things that an agent may do for insurance companies, firm or individual. The capital is limited to a maximum of $5,000, minimum $500. The officers are: President, Robert M. Friend; Secretary and Treasurer, H. McEl Friend. These officers and Richard D. Gilliam are the directors.

The official report of Supervisor J. B. McCulloch for the year ending today shows a total of 5,667,336 pounds of loose tobacco sold at the warehouses in Petersburg. A total of 7,043,815 pounds was sold during the previous year.

The first anniversary of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church, in Prince George county, was celebrated last Saturday by the Bohemian Catholics of that county. Rev. Father O'Farrell, rector of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, in this city, celebrating high mass, assisted by Rev. Father Kenelock, rector of Sacred Heart Church. The church was dedicated one year ago by Bishop Van de Vyver.

Officials Declare They Have a Never Seen Better at Such

LYNCHBURG, VA., October 1.—The third annual exhibition of the Interstate Fair Association, of Lynchburg, opened today with excellent exhibits in all of the departments, and the usual side attractions for the visitors. About 2,000 people, the usual opening day crowd, were out in the afternoon.

Alvah H. Martin, vice-president, a member of the former abolished board of governors, is still looking for the office or else the receivership of the fair and T. S. Southgate, director of exhibits, is still spoken of in connection with the office of director-general.

There will be a very important sale of selected registered stock at the V. P. I. barns Friday, November 29th, at 1 o'clock. The herds have grown too large for present conditions, and that it is his desire to give the farmers and stockmen of the State the chance to secure them at their own prices.
